Subject: RE: Rolling Stone

FYI - a fact checker from Rolling Stone just called to follow-up my conversation with Matt Diehl. The one piece of information I need to get back to him on is how many miles are available per pack of Marlboros. Five? The focus of the story will clearly be on attendance or lack thereof at these events. He wanted to double check the information on most attended and least attended events, and I said I could confirm the earlier information I gave on the most attended event (Minneapolis, Los Lobos).
